The Notes Below Are An Integral Part of this Report | Track Record Compiled By: Prepared In-house

Program Description: Chelton's FX trading strategy is focused on its risk/reward ratio. Trading is performed under the control of strict risk management. Every trade is equipped with a stop-loss guard in place in an attempt to mitigate risk in every trade setup. The program focuses on intraday trades which are usually opened and closed in the same trading session. The system uses one of the most common indicators, to identify over-bought and over-sold price levels on multiple time-frames. When all intraday time-frames give trade opportunity to enter the market, they have to match the general direction filter that allows or disallows trades to be opened. The number of open trades, per setup, is limited to keep the risk under control and are closed by the relative strength indicator when it reaches the desired levels.
